Laotian Rebels Take Important Stronghold

Tha Thom Falls Before Major Red Assault

North Viet Nam Troops Reported Part of Siege Unit

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP)—Communist rebel groups have taken the important Laotian government stronghold of Tha Thom, 85 miles northeast of the capital, in a major assault that shattered a week-old near cease-fire, Western sources said today.

These sources, which were close to the fighting area, said large units of Vietminh troops from Communist North Viet Nam were reported to have taken part in the siege which included heavy artillery shelling.

Tha Thom is just south of the Plain of Jars where major Vietminh units are believed located and only 25 air miles from the Thailand border and the key government city of Paksan.

Break In Battlefield Quiet

The Communist assault on Tha Thom was the first big break in the general battlefield quiet since the SEATO meeting was opened in Bangkok Monday.

A major rebel assault at this time may be only a show of strength. But it could also be a kickoff of a major drive that would be aimed at reaching the Mekong River border with Thailand to the south.

This would have the effect of dividing Laos formally in two—a move with more psychological than strategic significance because the nation already is largely cut by guerrilla units.

Meanwhile, the royal Laotian government indicated it would be willing to wink at Soviet arm shipments to the rebels for the time being to get a quick cease-fire.

Informants said officials feared linking a demand that the Soviets stop immediately flying supplies to the pro-Communist Pathet Lao would lead to Moscow insisting on a halt in American aid to the Vientiane regime.

Says Aid Must Stop
(Prince Souvanna Phouma, Laos' neutralist former premier, said Friday in London both the Soviets and the United States must stop sending military aid into Laos if peace is to be restored there. Souvanna is on a world tour, trying to explain in

3 Persons Die In Accident Near Warren

WARREN, Ohio (AP) — A motorist, driving in the wrong lane on U. S. 62's divided highway near the Pennsylvania border caused a head-on auto collision which claimed the lives of three Ohioans Friday night, according to the Ohio Highway Patrol.

The victims were John Guba, 47, his wife, Elizabeth, 43, and their daughter, Carol, 19, all of Masury, Ohio, about 15 miles east of here near the Pennsylvania state line. Another daughter, Ruth, 11, was injured, but is listed in fair condition at Sharon (Pa.) General Hospital. She was told of the death of her parents.

A highway patrolman said George Glen Anderson, 39-year-old engineer of Sharpsville, Pa., was driver of the other car.

The patrol said Anderson's car was going about 50 miles per hour around a curve in the road, just a half mile southwest of the Pennsylvania line near Masury. The Guba car's speed was estimated at 45 miles per hour, the patrol said.

Anderson was in fair condition in the Sharon Hospital.

Next Time, Mister, You Won't Get Out

EAST LIVERPOOL, Ohio (AP)—For the second straight year, the Easter weekend amnesty granted by the municipal court judge here to city jail prisoners has backfired.

Judge Samuel M. Chertoff issued the amnesty Thursday afternoon, freeing two men serving time for intoxication. Both promised the judge they would stay sober.

Four hours later, one of them was behind bars again — charged with intoxication. Police said he would spend Easter weekend in jail, just as he did last year after breaking his promise.

Streams Rip Banks In South

By The Associated Press
The rampaging Cedar River in southeast Iowa receded today, but heavy spring rains in the South pushed rivers over their banks in that area for the second time in five weeks.

The Cedar, already responsible for millions of dollars in damage in Waterloo, crested more than six feet over flood stage in Cedar Rapids Friday and inched slowly back toward normal.

Some 5,000 persons had evacuated their homes in Cedar Rapids, mostly as a precautionary measure, but the levees and dikes held and water reached only about 20 homes in lowland areas.

Many of the thousands of volunteers who labored frantically since Monday to contain the river with sandbags returned to their homes during the night, while others kept watch for leaks in the soggy barriers.

Officials said the river should drop during the day, but three villages to the southeast are expected to get some flooding as the crest moves downstream. They are Rochester, Cedar Bluffs, and Cedar Valley.

Damage in Cedar Rapids was relatively minor compared with Waterloo and suburban Evansdale, where the swollen river poured into 800 homes, causing an estimated $60 million in damage.

In the flood-weary South, hundreds of persons evacuated their homes in southern Mississippi and western Alabama as a deluge of spring rain spread overflow water into lowlands.

Most of the evacuees were among those who were driven out by floods just five weeks ago along the Leaf and Bouie rivers in the Hattiesburg, Miss., area.

The Weather Bureau reported as much as eight inches of rain fell in some areas Friday. Flooding and evacuations were also reported along the Yazoo, Pearl, Loxapallila, Tombigbee and Chickasawhatch rivers. Most are expected to crest Sunday to Monday.

Lesser flooding was reported along other rivers and creeks in southern Mississippi.

The heavy rains and thunderstorms moved slowly eastward during the early morning, and the Weather Bureau predicted partly cloudy weather for the rest of the weekend.

The spring deluge caused flash flooding in a number of western Alabama communities. Some Tuscaloosa streets were under as much as a foot of water, and underpasses were flooded in Birmingham.

The turbulent weather pattern spread thunderstorms over most of Florida with rain, wet snow and sleet northward to the Ohio Valley, lower Great Lakes, Penn.

Pretty April 1 Snow Fools Everyone

Mary Pat Barrett and Charlotte Powell Admire The Beauty of Centennial Park

It may have been April 1 but the weatherman wasn't fooling today. That was real snow on the ground, some three to four inches of it.

The snow, changing from rain early this morning, was wet and clung to almost everything it touched, painting trees and shrubbery with a pre-Easter dress of white.

Streets and highways were extremely slippery early today before heavy traffic later ground the snow to slush.

A number of motorists who had removed their snow tires for the season were caught off guard and boots and galoshes were still the vogue for the man and woman afoot.

The snowstorm apparently surprised even the road crews because many highways showed evidence of not having been cleared by plows. City crews were out with salt, hoping that most of the snow would melt and thereby avoid costly snow removal operations.

The UCT-sponsored Easter Egg Hunt for the children at Centennial Park was postponed until next Saturday morning because of the weather.

But the most perplexed person was milady, who cast an admiring glance at her new Easter bonnet and then at the snow outside.

Tomorrow is Easter and the weatherman predicts continued snow flurries.

S. Africa Issue Near U.N. Vote

Punitive Measures Not Favored by U.S.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The United States may alienate some of the new African friends it won here through support on racial issues when it votes on the explosive questions of reprisals against South Africa.

The issue headed for a showdown as the 25 African member states gave unanimous support to Ghana's call for a worldwide diplomatic and trade break with the white supremacist Union government.

The United States made its position clear this week when it denounced South Africa's apartheid (race segregation) policies, but took issue with those urging punitive measures.

U. S. Delegate Francis T. P. Plimton told the U. N.'s 99-nation sanctions would hurt the victims of the racial laws more than the leaders of the Union government.

This reasoning has stirred some resentment among African leaders. Liberia's Christie Doe told the committee that South African nonwhites themselves support the clamping of penalties on the Union government, even though they would suffer from an international boycott.

"The United States should drop this paternalistic attitude," one African diplomat said privately. "Let us do the worrying about

He said he expects to present several more cases to the grand jury before the session is completed.

The April term of Common Pleas Court will officially open at noon Monday with a Columbiana County Bar Association dinner at the First Presbyterian Church in Lisbon, followed by a business meeting of the association at the Courthouse when election of officers will be held.

The 15-member panel will be picked Tuesday morning and will be sworn in by Judge Raymond

S. Buzzard, who will handle criminal cases this term.

The panel's first duty will be to visit the county jail, probably Tuesday forenoon. The jury will begin hearing witnesses after lunch.

The jury's session will last through Wednesday afternoon, the prosecutor indicated.

JFK Family Plot Probed

Pro-Castro Cubans Under Surveillance

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Pro-Castro Cubans under surveillance in a reported plot to kidnap President Kennedy's small daughter are also suspected of planning to wipe out the President's entire family, an informed source said today.

This source, who asked not to be named, said U.S. Secret Service agents have located the Cubans in the Palm Beach area and are keeping a close watch on them.

Meanwhile, 3-year-old Caroline Kennedy is under what was called double-alert Secret Service security guard at the Atlantic shore home of her grandparents. The cute blonde youngster is spending an Easter holiday here with the President and Mrs. Kennedy.

The Secret Service, it was learned, has been tipped that four Cuban plotters — described as "pro-Castro and anti-Kennedy" — contemplated trying to kill the President, his wife and their two children. A plan to kidnap Caroline as an alternative was also reported.

As for the plotters, an excellent authority said: "We think we know who they are and we are keeping them under surveillance."

He added, "They have made no

Wellsville Gunman Still Eludes Capture

Charges of contributing to the delinquency of a minor was filed in Juvenile Court at Lisbon this morning by Mrs. Clea M. Smith Tice against Charles Tice, 25, of Wellsville, who was the object of a manhunt early Friday morning after he shot a Wellsville policeman at the Tice home.

Tice, who has not been found, is accused of assaulting Mrs. Tice's 15-year-old daughter by a former marriage.

Police said he shot five times at Patrolman Frank D. Daniels who was on guard duty at Tice's home after the latter reportedly threatened "to get" Mrs. Tice's daughter. Daniels was wounded in the wrist.

President, Rusk Sift Red Reply

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — President Kennedy and Secretary of State Dean Rusk today received a summary of the Soviet government's reply to British proposals for a cease-fire in Communist-threatened Laos.

"They do not have the actual text of the reply, but are receiving a synopsis of it," White House press secretary Pierre Salinger said as Kennedy and Rusk were about to begin a conference here on the Laos crisis.

Salinger said he had no immediate information on even the general tenor of the note. He added that he probably would not be able to discuss it when and if he did get such information.

The Russian reply to the British bid for a cease-fire was handed in Moscow today to Britain's Ambassador Sir Frank Roberts.

An hour later the Kremlin called in U.S. Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson for a discussion of the situation in Laos.

Salinger said Kennedy and Rusk were getting a summary from Thompson on the Soviet reply to the British.

The summary was relayed to Rusk by the State Department in Washington. Rusk flew to the President's vacation headquarters from the capital Friday night.

Rusk got his first word that the Russians had replied from an Associated Press reporter here at 3:30 a.m., shortly after delivery of the note to the British ambassador had been announced in Moscow.

Kennedy at that hour presumably had not received any word regarding the reply either, since the usual diplomatic procedure would be for the British to get in touch with Rusk.

The Soviet government did not immediately make its reply public. Rusk said the British probably would notify the State Department quite promptly regarding the contents.

Rusk flew to Palm Beach from Washington Friday night with no idea, he said, that a Soviet reply — long awaited — was so imminent. He traveled from the capital for further discussions with Kennedy today of the drive to end hostilities in Laos.

Rusk also arranged to talk over plans for another Kennedy conference next week with Britain's Prime Minister Harold Macmillan.

Today's session was arranged for mid-morning at the seashore home of the President's parents. Rusk reported to Kennedy by telephone from Washington Friday

Premier Also Calls Thompson For Confab

Details of Soviet Reply on Cease-Fire Not Made Public

BULLETIN
MOSCOW (AP) — The Foreign Office announced tonight Moscow Radio will begin broadcasting at 10:30 p.m. (2:30 p.m. EST) the Soviet reply to the British proposals for a cease-fire and a settlement in Laos.

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union today handed Britain its reply to a peace plan for Laos and later called in U.S. Ambassador Llewellyn E. Thompson to discuss the situation in the strategic Asian jungle kingdom.

There was no immediate indication of the Soviet response to the British proposal, which was pegged to bringing about an immediate cease-fire in Laos.

Nikita Calls Thompson
Khrushchev personally called in Thompson barely an hour after British Ambassador Sir Frank Roberts was handed the Soviet reply by a deputy foreign minister.

The Soviet premier and the American ambassador talked for an hour and a half.

Neither Thompson nor the British ambassador would give any indication of the details of their visits with the Soviet authorities except to say that Laos was the subject.

When asked for information, an American spokesman said, "For any information you should see the British."

This comment indicated that Khrushchev had given Thompson a report on the note given over earlier to Roberts.

Third Talk With Mr. K.

It was Thompson's third long conversation with Khrushchev since President Kennedy took office. Two were held in the Kremlin and the other in an isolated Dacha in Siberia outside Novosibirsk.

Roberts was called first to the Soviet foreign office at 10 a.m. Moscow time and handed the Soviet reply to a peace proposal presented March 23 with the backing of the United States.

It called for 1) an immediate cease-fire in Laos 2) revival of the three-nation control commission India, Canada, Poland) set

Mine Rock Falls, Kills Two Brothers

STEUBENVILLE, Ohio (AP)—A large rock fell from the roof of a coal mine three miles east of nearby Bergholz Friday and fell on three brothers, killing two of them.

Ernest Baker, 41, and Donald Baker, 45, were crushed. Each was a father of four and a resident of Bergholz.

William Baker, 33, suffered possible spinal, pelvic and leg injuries. He is in fair condition at Ohio Valley Hospital here. Two other men working in the slope mine, owned by the B & G Coal Co., were unharmed.

Orville Sivets, mayor of Bergholz, said the rock which fell on the men was about a foot thick and 10 to 12 feet square.

The two men who were killed were part owners of the mine along with their brother, Sivets and James George.

The new Bible's story of The Resurrection

With the arrival of the Easter season, Christendom welcomed a new translation of the Holy Bible. It is the fruit of several years of labor by a board of Bible scholars in England and is entitled "The New English Bible, New Testament." It is published jointly by Oxford University Press and Cambridge University Press. Copyright 1961, Delegates of Oxford University Press and the Syndics of Cambridge University Press. The story of the Resurrection in this new translation follows.

The Sabbath had passed, and it was about daybreak on Sunday when Mary of Magdala and the other Mary came to look at the grave. Suddenly there was a violent earthquake; an angel of the Lord descended from heaven; he came to the stone and rolled it away, and sat himself down on it. His face shone like lightning; his garments were as white as snow. At the sight of him the guards shook with fear and lay like the dead.

The angel then addressed the women: "You," he said, "have nothing to fear. I know you are looking for Jesus who was crucified. He is not here; he has been raised again, as he said he would be. Come and see the place where he was laid, and then go quickly and tell his disciples: 'He has been raised from the dead and is going on before you into Galilee; there you will see him.' That is what I had to tell you."

They hurried away from the tomb in awe and great joy, and ran to tell the disciples. Suddenly Jesus was there in their path. He gave them his greeting, and they came up and clasped his feet, falling prostrate before him. Then Jesus said to them, "Do not be afraid. Go and take word to my brothers that they are to leave for Galilee. They will see me there."

Blaze Destroys Library, Dorm at Ohio University

ATHENS, Ohio (AP) — State fire inspectors were to be called in today to investigate a blaze which destroyed the library and lounge area on the first floor of Bush Hall dormitory for men at Ohio University.

The 200 students who live in the three-story dormitory had left on their Easter vacation when the fire broke out Friday. It wasn't spotted until early evening and Athens Firemen squelched the flames in 15 minutes.

Fire Chief Charles Dalton, saying he will call in state fire inspectors, asserted he could not give a damage estimate or state the origin of the blaze.

Books, furniture, a piano and TV set were among the items destroyed. The second, third and fourth floors received only smoke damage. But Dean of Men William Butler said the building should be in condition for students to occupy their quarters when school resumes next Wednesday.

The dormitory was named after Frederick W. Bush, late publisher of the Athens Messenger and Ohio U. trustee. By coincidence, the fire alarm was turned in by Paul Efav of Athens, a graduate student who also works as a copy editor for the Messenger. And one of the volunteer firemen who fought the blaze was Roy Cross, also an editor for the newspaper.

Easter Meditation

By Rev. Daniel L. Keister, pastor of Holy Trinity English Lutheran Church.

Dr. John R. Brokhoff, clergyman-thinker, in his book "This Is The Life" tells of: "A man who was shocked when, standing in his bathtub, he touched an electric wire. A doctor was called and he pronounced him dead. The man was buried in a crypt under the cemetery's chapel.

In due time the man regained consciousness, opened the lid of his coffin and crawled out. He beckoned to the caretaker but the man fled in terror. Later the caretaker got control of himself and returned to let the man out.

Then the man telephoned his wife to tell her that he was alive. When she heard his voice, she dropped the phone and collapsed. He went to some of his friends who, upon seeing him, thought he was a ghost and slammed the door in his face. Finally, he found a friend who had not heard of his death and burial. He had his friend serve as an intermediary to convince his family and other friends that he was not a ghost." At the empty tomb of Jesus the visitors reacted in a like manner. They doubted the resurrection of Christ. The angel had to calm the fear, astonishment, perplexity, and disbelief with the words: "Do not be amazed He is not here He is risen." It was too good to be true for them at first.

Easter is the queen of festivals in the Christian year. The resurrection of Jesus Christ should be celebrated and exalted with every ounce of exuberance that mankind can muster. God has defeated death. God has guaranteed that Jesus is the Son of God, as He claimed to be; for God would not have raised an impostor from the dead.

Why should we waste time wondering how it happened? Why consume part of our limited years with the "too good to be true" attitude?

The fact is that Christ is Risen. The resurrection is true and good. But Easter is not too good to be true.

Join with your church in singing Alleluias and praises to the Risen Lord.

Mother Thrilled At First Sight Of Her Quads

HOLYOKE, Mass. (AP)—"Oh!" exclaimed a slim, little mother glimpsing her quadruplets for the first time today, "I didn't think they'd look so good. They're beautiful!"

Mrs. Raymond J. Feyre, 35, mother of six other children, rose from the chair in which she had been wheeled from her room to the Providence Hospital "Premy" (premature baby) nursery and gasped her delight.

She had been disappointed Thursday by her doctor's opinion that she was then not strong enough to see the quadruplets born Wednesday.

Standing entranced, in her powder blue bathrobe, before the row of four infants in their incubators she was clearly surprised.

"It looks as if it wouldn't be too long before they could come home," she said hopefully. But the babies must gain considerably before that wish can come true, for all are less than four pounds now. And they must be over five pounds before they can be discharged.

But beaming nurses said they were all "fine" today.

They took three feedings of glucose—a kind of sugar—in water Thursday. Thursday night they took their first feeding of a regular food formula and will continue to receive these feedings every three hours from now on.

Some of the tiny babes—two girls and two boys—slept, and some sucked their thumbs as the thrilled mother watched today.

She looked at one and exclaimed, "She's an angel!"

And then—taking in all four—she said, as though she hadn't quite believed it before, "they're all mine."

Gifts and flowers continued to our in to the mother and her 38-year-old husband—a $120-a-week insurance salesman. The gifts included furniture, cash certificates, and a donation of four quarts of milk a day for a year.

LUTHERANS BELIEVE...

In the resurrection of the body.

Miracle, did you say? It sure is!

That's the glory of the Christian faith. Death is not the end. Hope is not limited to this life . . . in this world.

The Christian lives in sure and certain hope of the resurrection of the body, because Christ—who arose from the dead—promises this same resurrection to every one of His followers.

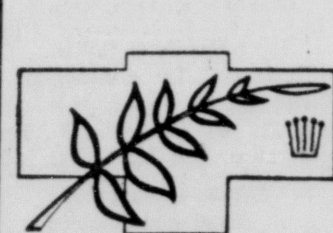

Explain it, you say? Who can explain a miracle?

Lutherans make no attempt to explain the mechanics of the resurrection of the body. It's a matter of faith. Their only touchstone is Scripture.

Christ has promised, "I go to prepare a place for you. And if I go and prepare a place for you, I will come again, and receive you unto myself; that where I am, there you may be also." In what manner will this be?

St. Paul offers a glimpse, saying, Christ "shall change our body that it may be fashioned like unto his glorious body."

... and that means a resurrected body, a new body, an eternal body, a body that will never suffer, a body that will be used to sing the praises of God in all eternity.

Confident Living

By Dr. NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

Has Easter Happened to You?

In a Lenten Devotional book let Florence Pert writes moving-ly of her experience on a flight south from New York:

"Our captain announced that we had to make an emergency landing. Due to a faulty hydraulic gauge he was unable to determine whether our brakes would hold on landing. We circled Charlotte, N.C., airport for an hour or more, dumping all our fuel, while emergency preparations were made on the ground. Fire equipment and ambulances were assembled and a special foam spread on the air strip to help break the plane's speed and reduce the possibility of fire.

"I have often wondered what the thoughts of those forty-odd passengers were as we circled that field for over an hour, uncertain of our future. I was as nervous as some of the passengers seemed to be, but I did know to whom I could surrender my fears! Relaxing a bit, I prayed for God's wishes to be given the pilot, engineers and ground crew and that the passengers near me should know the peace that passes understanding.

As I told God of my own fears, several convictions came to me. One was that if and when I did end my earthly life there would be others who would carry on the work I felt He had entrusted to me. I began to sense the infinite resources of God and to see that in His hands my life was fulfilled whether on earth or in His everlasting Kingdom.

The second realization is more difficult to describe. As I prayed, I seemed to slip over into eternity for an instant—to the threshold of heaven itself. Suddenly I felt complete peace, love and joy flood my soul and I knew as a certainty that death no longer held any fear for me. Jesus Christ held my life on earth and into eternity."

THIS I THINK is a true Easter experience. Easter happened to that woman in a plane in a flashing and comforting revelation that death does not end life. It is not given to everyone to have this feeling of peace and certainty. But the fact that some do should bring a measure of peace to those of us whose spiritual sensitivity may be less acute.

Personally, I have no doubt whatsoever that the good God who has blessed us in so many ways in this imperfect world of mortality has prepared for us a life of infinitely greater proportions in eternity. The Bible supports this conviction: "Eye hath not seen, nor ear heard, neither have entered into the heart of man, the things which God hath prepared for them that love him."

Socrates, the great philosopher, had many insights parallel to our Christian thinking. He once said that no harm can come to a good man in this world or the next.

The clear implication of the keen Athenian thinker is that immortality is reserved for the good, which is the Biblical teaching.

THE NEW TESTAMENT concept of death concerns the quality of the soul: "The soul that sinneth, it shall not die." And those whose souls are clean, whose faith rests upon the Lord shall live forever.

This is expressed in one of the greatest passages ever recorded for the guidance of humanity: "I am the resurrection, and the life: he that believeth in me, though he were dead, yet shall he live: And whosoever liveth and believeth in me shall never die."

The message is simple and direct: For the Christian, Christ is the hope of eternal life and to receive that blessing one must do two things: believe and live it—in other words have faith and conduct yourself by Christ's pattern.

I REALIZE MANY PEOPLE water this down these days and generally promise immortality to everyone. Do anything and "do" everybody, and if you turn nice guy when the pearly gates come into view then heaven is for you! It's an easy and pleasant concept and I would like to go along with it, being myself a genial soul. But who am I to promise any such thing? What do I know about it?

The only really reputable and authoritative source of information is the New Testament. I would hate to take a chance on any easy-going geniality of Almighty God. He is the God of love, to be sure, but He is completely just and honest and terribly searching. I doubt if we ever get away with anything with Him. But He is also very real, that's for sure. And when a man is genuinely sorry for his evil ways and his thoughts, and asks the good God to forgive him, almost before he's through asking it is granted.

Perhaps that is Easter too.

Public Can Defend Itself

If there ever was a perfect situation to show why state and federal courts should rule on the constitutionality of legislation before instead of after it's passed, Ohio's proposed conspiracy bill is it.

Here is one of the DiSalle administration's strongest talking points. It was dumped in the last General Assembly because labor unions were afraid it might turn into a loaded gun at their expense. It is being pushed again in this General Assembly with the objectionable features eliminated.

Scattered about Ohio are a hundred lawyers itching for a chance to take a crack at a criminal conspiracy law if this state adopts one. Every one of them by this time has come to certain strong conclusions about the best way to challenge its constitutionality if he ever comes up against it in the defense of a client. The seed of a doubt has been planted.

In the General Assembly, where the lower house already has approved a bill to punish conspiracies to violate state laws on gambling, prostitution and narcotics, lawmakers are wondering, too, if they are going through the motions of doing something that is going to be knocked aside by the legal profession.

If the constitutionality of such a law could be established in advance by pre-examination in the state's courts — a possibility of rational conduct that never has been exploited by government — Ohio would know where it stood from the outset.

Cases brought under the law still could be knocked down by technical barrages, allegations of error and the whimsies of judges, but at least the public could know in advance that it had a clear legal right to try to protect itself against conspiracies to break its laws.

This is the intent of the Ohio law that has been proposed — to let the public protect itself against conspirators. It is most unfortunate that the attempt to do this must take place in the shadow of the released Apalachin defendants, who represented the federal government's efforts to do the same thing. The federal jurists who turned those defendants loose on appeal raised the question of the public's ability to defend itself at all.

There Are Some Differences

The United States was 100 per cent wrong for a century and a half about denying the right to vote in the District of Columbia. Its residents should have been allowed to vote in presidential elections generations ago. That this was not done when it should have been done was a sad commentary on what happens when deliberative government turns stubborn.

The motive for the stubbornness needs to be understood before residents of the federal district take the next step, which would be toward home rule.

When the District of Columbia talks about home rule it isn't the same issue that delayed voting in federal elections. There are some differences.

The District of Columbia is not like other political entities in the United States. It is the city of Washington, which it encompasses, are the seat of the federal government. Every citizen of every state has a stake in the "federal town" created by the Founding Fathers.

There is no happiness in the thought the district might become the monopoly of the Democratic party, as is true of many large cities in the United States. There is no balm for patriotism in the thought Washington might come under partisan control and be employed to twist money out of the federal government for partisan advantage.

This could happen if Congress permitted home rule on the assumption that Washington was the same as other cities. Washington never can be the same as other cities. The District of Columbia can never be the same as other metropolitan areas. The situation is unique.

There would be big trouble if an excess of zeal for representative democracy failed to take into account the reasons home rule for the seat of the federal government would be equivalent to throwing the nation's capital up for political grabs, with the Democratic party being about a 50-1 favorite to catch it on the way down.

Getting Away From It All

Without knowing more about Marie Cole Berger, who has been tapped for governor of Samoa by the Kennedy administration, it's impossible to say whether she has been slurred by a Samoan delegation that dislikes the appointment.

Miss Berger does have a pat reply to the objection that women are not fit to pow wow with chiefs in Samoa. She explains she was made a chief when she lived there and that women are chiefs in Samoa all the time.

What interests some of us men is not Miss Cole but Samoa, and this is to inform the Kennedy administration, specifically the Department of Interior under Stewart L. Udall, that plenty of us are free to go to Samoa.

No sacrifice would be too much for us to make under the circumstances. The Polynesians who live in Samoa under U.S. protection would like us and we'd like them. There would be no problems about getting squiffed with the chiefs when they perform rituals, either. Most of us have sat down with plenty of chiefs in the past and still gone to bed under our own power—and those who doubt their prowess in this respect can always drink coconut milk, instead.

We aren't asking Secretary Udall to take our word for it—just to give us a fair trial. As we say, 24 hours' notice will be enough. All we want is time to buy a pith helmet, find our ukeleles and Pago Pago here we come!

Fact is, Secretary Udall, sir, we don't get the logic of sending a woman governor to Samoa. The South Sea Islands are where men dream of going to get away from it all—not women. Women dream of going to New York City.

Nazarenes' Achievement

Easter has a special significance this year for members of the First Church of the Nazarene for tomorrow the congregation moves into its modern, new building on N. Ellsworth Ave.

The new house of worship is the answer to prayers and the toil of a growing congregation whose history here dates back to a revival meeting held in 1925. The church was officially chartered in the ensuing year with a nucleus of 16 members.

The Nazarenes have twice outgrown their limited quarters on Second St. and had to expand, but the move to the new location is a crowning achievement for a devoted, energetic people.

Although dedication services will not be held until April 16, we would like to commend the Rev. Arthur Brown and his congregation now for demonstrating that "faith without works is dead."

Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

The President of the United States, taking jumps in a fox hunt, would make the country jumper than it does the chief executive. Pursuit of a fox takes full attention. How can the President, with mind loaded with gravest problems threatening world peace, concentrate on a fox who is threatening nobody?

Is it possible for the President properly to judge the jumps over Virginia's fields if his mind is in Southeast Asia, the Congo or Cuba?

Will he perform as required chasing a fox if he is, so to speak, chasing Khrushchev, Prince Souvannaphouma, Gizenka, the Republican opposition and all his budget critics?

Suppose Mr. Kennedy coming buckety-buckety up against big hedge is so mentally harassed he thinks he is on yacht "Honey Fitz"? What if, halfway over the fence, he fancies he hears a cry "Let's filibuster"?

It will not be easy to synchronize fox hunting with global problems. Fox will be greater threat to President than President will be to fox. And he may make his fellow hunters nervous because of fear that at critical moment in hunt, he may whirl and demand immediate action on housing and education.

Latest problem is how Secret Service guards will protect JFK in cross-country gallops. No auto can clear a hedge or brook.

So Secret Service is considering hiring horses. It has some agents from West and Southwest who are horsemen but they have never ridden after foxes. Rented horse can be perilous in such a sport. Man must know his mount or get tossed early.

Getting down to brass tacks, where's President's physician that she doesn't make him cut the fox hunt? If there is anybody who can't take chance of a bad fall off a horse it's a man who has had severe spinal injuries. U.S. hasn't had a fox-hunting president to kids, one of whom has expressed a desire to worry over since colonial days. Can it stand strain now?

The Little Red Pill-House

(In Texas a psychiatrist reports school kids are being given tranquilizers when they dislike school—News Item.)

Give a thought to Willie Poole. He doesn't want to go to school. He fights attempts to make him wiser. Unless he gets a tranquilizer!

II

So on through life will this boy go. In meeting problems high or low; When any task is all uphill He'll always cry "I need my pill."

III

If he winds up a total bust Facing tasks with deep disgust. Here is the answer to such stuff. He wasn't tranquilized enough.

Broadway has a zoo-like atmosphere, with marauding flashing "Rhinos," "Wildcat" and "Big Fish, Little Fish." It's misleading to kids, one of whom has expressed a desire to see what he insists is "Camel Lot."

Can Cities Come Back?

By HARRIET STIX

Ask any commuter why he puts up with the dreary daily drag and he's likely to answer—"too expensive in town," or—"we did it for the children." Each year, thousands of middle class families move to the suburbs simply because they feel they have no choice.

Miss Elizabeth Wood, a former director of the Chicago Housing Authority, believes that the cities must act—and now—to provide them a decent alternative.

Otherwise, if the suburbs are allowed to continue to win the "best citizens" by default, the inevitable result will be waste and deterioration of the cities.

The cities owe their middle income families a chance to find the life they want. They also owe it to themselves for these families are traditionally the leaders in the community.

There are many who believe that the flow cannot be halted, that our cities will more and more be made up of luxury housing for the rich, substandard or islanded public housing for the poor. Not Miss Wood. She's certain that there are thousands who would gladly exchange a barbecue in the backyard for a hibachi on the fire escape "if only the joys of urban living weren't swamped by its deficiencies." But there must be immediate, and detailed, planning at the city level.

Matter of Fact

Ever see a snake flying? Of course there isn't really a flying snake, but some tree snakes do a good imitation. These tree climbers are like "flying" squirrels and "flying" fish. They've learned to glide from tree to tree. How? They flatten themselves out until they are very thin and concave on their underside to catch the air. Then they give a big leap.

Indians were making the Arizona desert bloom over a thousand years ago. The Hohokam Indians dug canals 30 feet wide and 10 feet deep through the desert to irrigate the thousands of acres of land which fed their people. They built cities in the desert—miles from the nearest river.

Crocodiles really do shed "crocodile tears" when they devour large victims. But there's no sentiment involved. Just as our eyes water after a big yawn, a crocodile's eyes water when his jaws are forced open.

From the Files

5 YEARS AGO — Election of officers was held when the Goshen Harmony club met at the home of Mrs. Ed Weingart.

10 YEARS AGO — Misses Anne Winder and Jean Gregg of Cleveland have arrived at Ft. Lauderdale, Fla. Miss Winder is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. Y. Winder of Highland Ave.

25 YEARS AGO — Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Jenkins of Winona spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Treat of Cuyahoga Falls.

of authority. But what she has to say should unravel, once and for all, a lot of the woolly minded arguing that has been going on between those who would like to tear down everything and start new and those who scream and yell and call every old tenement an historical monument.

Both sides have lost sight of what really matters to the middle income families they are wooing. What matters is:

1. The improvement of the school system, especially in changing areas. Only if the neighborhood school is truly excellent will young couples stick.

2. When families with a low standard of living are moving into a district, social work and educational programs must be set up to work with them.

It takes all kinds to make a balanced neighborhood but that doesn't mean that razor gangs should roam Park Avenue. The object of a balanced neighborhood is to raise the standard of its bottom members, not pull everyone down to slum level.

3. Many people flee the city because they fear that their neighborhood will be inundated by minority families. Therefore there must be open housing everywhere in the city so that specific neighborhoods are not swamped.

There must be education and renewal programs in changing sections, so that people's faith in their neighborhood is sustained.

4. There must be more housing—primarily private—to eliminate substandard and overcrowded conditions that are chasing people away.

Neighborhood living, in the sense of a physically defined district, is incompatible with urban living, she says. After all, in one building may live people who send their children to public, private or parochial school.

Their shopping habits, their church, their ideas of what to do on a Saturday night may be as different as the tastes of Jack Spratt and his wife. They start out the same doors in the morning but thereafter go completely different ways. For many, this is, in fact, the chief attraction of city life.

THIS IS NOT to say that what Miss Wood calls the quality of neighboring is out. But if the city is built on a human scale, neighboring will come naturally.

Within reason, Miss Wood believes there should be all kinds of people and all kinds of housing in a given area. But obviously all neighborhoods cannot — nor should they be identical.

Miss Wood believes in leaving what's good, rather than tearing down a whole neighborhood.

There should be both old and new housing. Churches, schools and the like should be relocated so that all sorts of people like to use them.

"Keeping what is good is a pain in the neck to the administrator," she says, speaking from her experience in Chicago. "Everything is more complex if you are doing things on a human scale. But in the end it is worthwhile."

Worthwhile in the dollars and cents sense too, for though it takes longer and the initial stages are more costly, the net physical you are doing things on a human cost—land acquisition, construction—is less.

Presently, with the aid of a Guggenheim Fellowship, Miss Wood is writing a book on urban renewal. She has written a pamphlet on the subject, called "A New Look at the Balanced Neighborhood," which was recently published by the Citizens' Housing and Planning Council of New York City.

A confirmed city dweller, Miss Wood lives here in an apartment on Washington sq. N. with a view of the Empire State building. ("I never thought I'd fall in love with the Empire State building"). She found it in the good old-fashioned way. Through friends.

Managing The GOP

By RAYMOND MOLEY

Bliss, Miller Mentioned for Chairmanship

It is now rumored in Washington that Rep. William E. Miller is under consideration by Republican leaders for the chairmanship of the Republican National Committee to succeed Sen. Thruston Morton, who is to retire about June 1.

Miller's voting record shows that he is essentially not a liberal Republican in the pattern of Gov. Rockefeller and Senators Javits and Cooper.

His capacity as a member of the House of Representatives is excellent. And his service as chairman of the Republican Congressional Committee succeeding the late Rep. Simpson has given him some experience as a party manager.

Another possible selection for national chairman is Ray Bliss state chairman of Ohio whose success in party management in Ohio in 1960 was sensational.

CONSIDERATION of these men brings up a very important distinction in the type of leadership needed in the Republican party—in fact in any party.

There is the job of evangelism which consists of moving through the country addressing party gatherings, articulating party philosophy and attacking the party in opposition.

On the other hand there is the job of management which means sitting at a desk in Washington, organizing and directing a large staff, instructing state chairmen raising money and organizing party gatherings.

The latter has been the sort of work at which Bliss has performed with amazing skill. It is his conception of what a national chairman should be. It should be a full-time, salaried position.

The former, the job of evangelism, can be and has been done on a part-time basis.

Congressmen and senators have served in that capacity in recent years. In earlier times even Cabinet members have served. In this role Rep. Miller would serve well.

The problem which Republican leaders including the members of the national committee must face is to make some arrangement which will provide both management and evangelism. Some arrangement which would enlist both Bliss and Miller would be ideal. The attainment of that ideal would require each of the individuals named to be of equal standing and prestige and that neither would in the performance of his duties be the superior of the other.

That would demand of both complete community of interest and personal compatibility.

OF THE TWO functions, management is by all means the more important. For there are many party leaders who can make an inspiring speech but there are few people who have been raised in politics who know how to be competent managers. The more successful Republican chairmen in the past have been managers.

The classical example was Mark Hanna who knew management as he had learned it in business.

Another great success was William Hays who won the largest majority in history for a Republican candidate for president in 1920. And the candidate that year was Warren G. Harding, far from the most outstanding of Republican candidates and Presidents.

Hays was trained in organizational politics. He was only incidentally an evangelist.

Another problem which should be solved in reorganizing the Republican party at the national level is to provide a close working arrangement between the Republican Congressional Committee and the national committee.

The former's task is to help elect Republican members of the House. It has its own staff which operates with a good deal of efficiency. Upon its efforts will depend the chances of Republican gains in the congressional elections in 1962.

When there is a Republican president he can be the boss of both groups if he has the political skill to be a real leader. But there will be no Republican President for a few years. That is why the selection of adequate party leadership will be such a problem when Chairman Morton steps down in June.

The Modest Press

By DONALD R. ROGERS

Daily newspapers know the least and do the least about promoting themselves and their industry than any other medium in the entire field of mass communications. It is strange, when they speak with such an effective voice on almost every matter under the sun, that they show so little concern—in public, at least—for the survival of their own place in society.

It is heartening, indeed, to receive a special report from the American Newspaper Publishers Association, announcing that in spite of recession, daily newspapers continued to invest heavily in capital outlay for plant expansion and modernization in 1960.

A survey by NAPA shows that 832 American and Canadian dailies invested $100 million in plant expansion last year and that the same newspapers anticipate spending another $110 million for the same purpose this year.

A similar survey last year showed that $76 U.S. dailies spent $97½ million for plant expansion in 1959.

It's an impressive record, and it stands up proudly among the records for expansion and new plant and equipment established by other industries.

THIS SPENDING comes at a time when a great many observers, among them professionals who should know better, are lamenting the decline of the American daily press and citing the increasing records of mergers, consolidations and outright bankruptcies among newspapers.

Manager Stanford Smith, in reporting on his survey, said: "This provides ample demonstration of the confidence of publishers in the continued growth of the daily newspaper as the number one communications medium for news and advertising, in spite of the retarding effects of a recession, rapidly rising production costs and outmoded depreciation laws."

"In the last 10 years more technological progress has been made than ever before in the production processes of daily newspapers. This has been accomplished through research by manufacturers of production equipment, the ANPA Research Institute and individual newspapers."

Those who labor for other industries will have observed much that is familiar in the foregoing, in particular the lament over outmoded depreciation laws.

Because of the great technological advancements that have taken place in the last few years, newspapers have been obliged to replace expensive but obsolete equipment with even more expensive modern equipment in order to provide the best possible service to readers and advertisers.

In view of the necessarily heavy outlays of capital, one would think that publishers and editors would have more concern for the perpetuation of newspapering, both as an industry and as a craft. They don't seem to.

FOR INSTANCE, a year ago, the ANPA suddenly discovered a science called public relations and decided to set up, within the association, an outfit called ANPA Newspaper Information Service, with two most admirable objectives.

The first was to create and maintain a better public understanding of the daily newspaper and its functions in the social and economic life of the individual, the community and the nation.

The second was to achieve these general objectives in part by cultivating the active interest of young people in newspaper careers and by stimulating the interest of and cooperation with all organizations within the newspaper business or related to it.

After agreeing on these high-sounding objectives, one of which may be interpreted as meaning they're going to try to attract more young people into newspapering, the publishers got together and appropriated $50,000 for a two year "experimental project."

For example, this is exactly one-twenty-fourth of what the TV industry spends for self-aggrandizement. The television industry's appropriation for explaining itself and endearing itself to the public is $600,000 per year.

So They Say

The U.S. Customs men, at the ports anyway, will have to be taught to abandon their occupational mimicry of the Marx Brothers and revert to simple courtesy.

The War of the Iron Horse

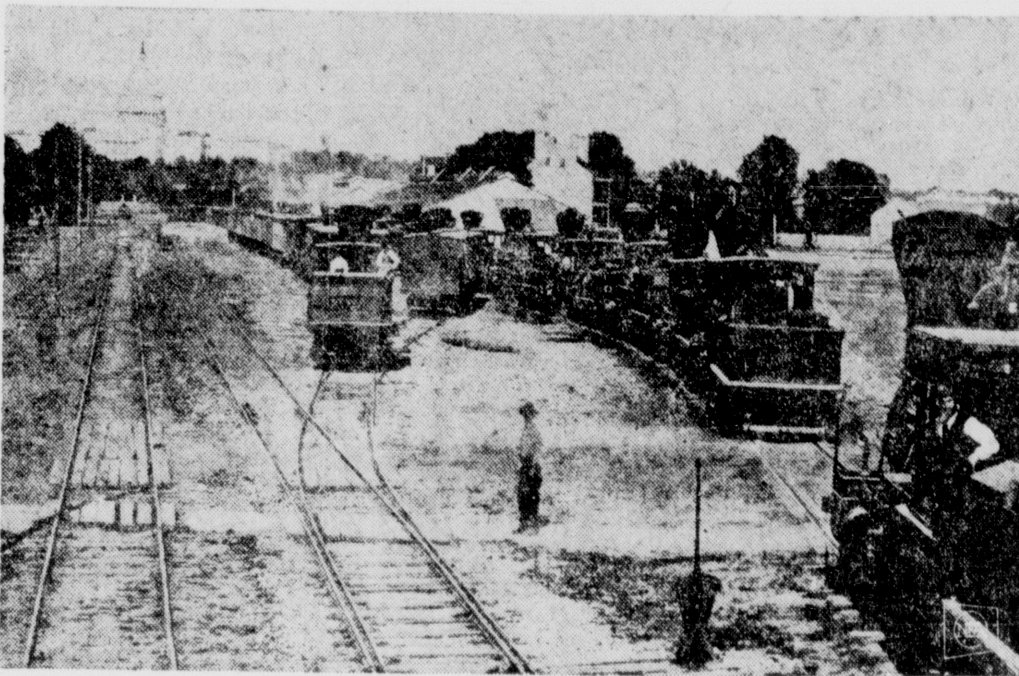

For both the Union and the Confederacy, the iron horse proved an invaluable beast of burden during the Civil War.

Some 21,000 miles of railroad served the North; a 9,000-mile network was used by the South.

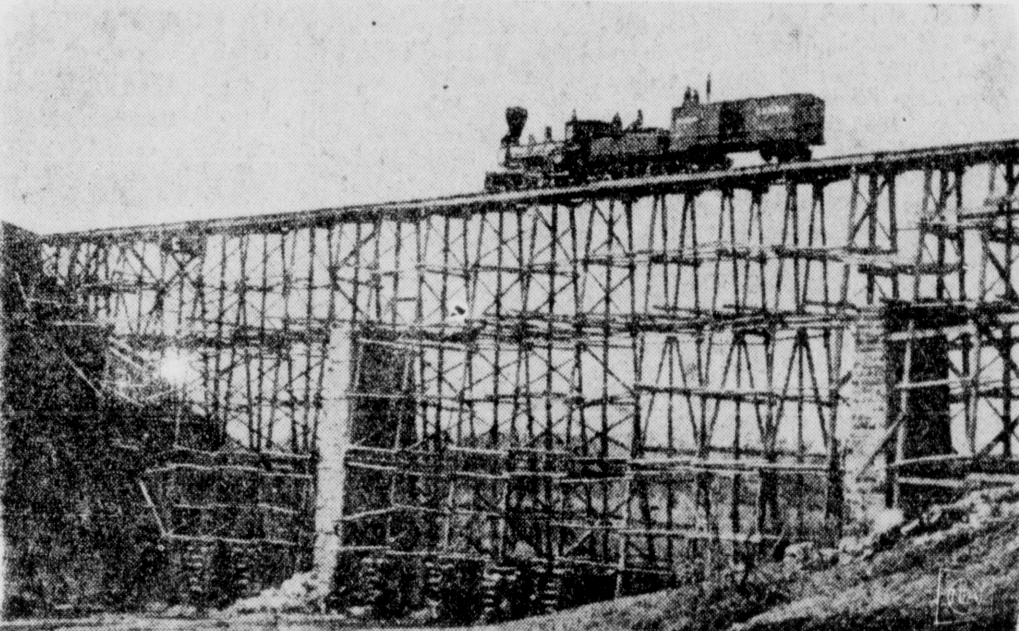

First military rail service in history was created by Abraham Lincoln in 1862—the U. S. Military Railroad Service. (Photos, data, from Assn. of American Railroads).

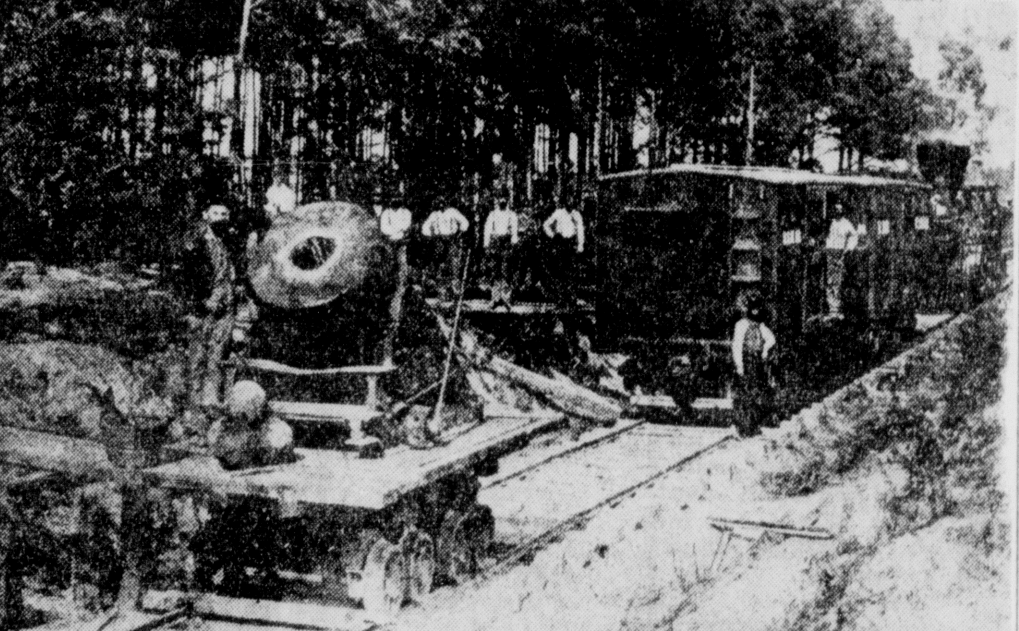

"GENERAL HAUPT," a high-stepping 4-4-0 woodburner, was confiscated from the Orange and Alexandria Railroad by Federal forces. She was named for Gen. Herman Haupt, who was chief of railroad construction for the Union.

ALMOST IN THE SHADOW OF the Capitol, left background, woodburners line team tracks in 1863. They were brought from Alexandria, Va., to keep them out of Confederacy's hands.

"NOTHING IN IT BUT BEANPOLES and cornstalks." That's how Abraham Lincoln is said to have described this Potomac Creek Bridge, thrown up in May of 1862 by Gen. Herman Haupt's Union military railroad forces, mostly unskilled soldiers. It was 400 feet long.

"NOTHING NEW UNDER THE SUN." Century-old forerunner of the Minuteman missile trains now a-building was this mortar train. The 13-inch mortar, foreground, was used by Federal artillery during closing months of the war. The 17,000-pound weapon threw a 200-pound shell about three miles. Minuteman trains will carry 6,300-mile ICBM's.

4 Injured, 2 Cited After Road Mishaps

Two Salem persons are in good condition today in Salem Central Clinic Hospital with injuries suffered in one of four traffic mishaps that occurred this morning.

Lola Prather, 19, of 677 W. State St., a passenger in an auto involved in a mishap on Rt. 9, three miles south of Salem, at 4 a.m., received a possible fracture of the jaw and ribs and contusions of the face. Merle L. Willing, 24, of RD 2, Salem, the driver of the car, received lacerations of the upper lip.

Highway patrolmen said Merle fell asleep at the wheel of the car, causing the auto to go off the right side of the road into an embankment. Minor damage was sustained by the car.

Merle was cited by the Patrol for reckless operation.

Two Youngstown residents were treated for injuries and released from the Central Clinic Hospital this morning following a mishap on Rt. 62, one mile east of Damascus, at 7 a.m.

Injured were the driver, Nathaniel Turner, 53, with lacerations of the upper eyelid, and Amanda Hall, 47, a passenger in the car, possible fractured ribs and arm injury.

Patrolmen said Turner drove the car through a stop sign and off the road. The patrol is continuing the investigation.

Minor damage was recorded on a car driven by Robert McGrew, 31, of Alliance, when the vehicle went off the left side of the road, hit a sign post and turned over off Rt. 62, one-quarter of a mile west of Damascus, at 1:15 a.m.

McGrew was cited by patrolmen for driving left of center.

In the third mishap, also at 1:15 a.m., Jerry McKing, 20, of Rogers, lost control of his south-bound car, causing the auto to go off the left side of the road into an embankment off Rt. 7, one mile south of Rt. 14.

Minor damage was sustained by the car, patrolmen said.

overt move and you can expect them to be pretty cagey under the circumstances. All of this publicity may have eliminated the possibility of an arrest."

It was learned Friday afternoon that the Secret Service started an investigation of the reported kidnapping plot about a week ago.

Pierre Salinger, White House press secretary, acknowledged that a Secret Service inquiry is underway, but he declined to pin it in any way to Caroline. Salinger said the President—and presumably Mrs. Kennedy—had no knowledge of any investigation until he learned about it late Friday as a result of news dispatches.

At a news conference, Salinger minimized the inquiry. He said, "The Secret Service gets information from time to time on the President and his family which requires a routine investigation. There is such an investigation underway."

Salinger also told newsmen, "All I want to say is that nothing unusual is going on. This is a routine investigation, the like of which they (the Secret Service) conduct a number every year. I am trying to caution you not to write something sensational about a big investigation. This is a routine case being handled routinely."

Secret Service Chief U. E. Baughman, here with the presidential party, said "I will not deny or confirm" the reports about an investigation.

Good Friday Rites Are Well-Attended

Four hundred and eighty-seven persons heard Rev. Ora Lovell discuss "Seeing the Saviour" at the Union Good Friday service in the First Methodist Church.

The Rev. Mr. Lovell, head of the department of Bible and philosophy at Malone College in Canton, was also speaker at the Holy Week services conducted daily in the First United Presbyterian Church.

"Sir, we would see Jesus," John 12:21, was the text of the message. In answering the question, "how may we see Him?", the speaker pointed out He is revealed in the scriptures as a person of might and mercy and a person with a mission.

We may see Him as He is reflected in the saints, such as Stephen and Paul who were martyrs, and present-day Christians, the Rev. Mr. Lovell added. We may also see Him as received by sinners, he added.

Rev. William Snowball, pastor of the host church, presided, assisted by Rev. R. J. Hunter of the First Baptist Church. Homer Taylor was organist, with special music by a quartet comprised Mrs. Edward Falk, Mrs. Gail Hutchison, Harry Lottman and Frank Heston of the First Baptist Church, accompanied by Miss Carol Murphy.

The Salem and Vicinity Ministerial Association sponsored the week of services.

Power Failure Caused by Snow

Heavy snow this morning caused the disruption of only one electric circuit for approximately 14 minutes in the area of W. State St., according to Tom Corrigan, Ohio Edison Co. superintendent.

Corrigan said electric service has also been temporarily halted outside the city where wires were down along the Teegarden Road, Route 45 and the Elkton Road. Workers were out this morning attempting to restore service to normal outside the city, Corrigan said.

The Pennsylvania Railroad gates at the W. State crossing were down and could not be raised and blocked traffic for quite awhile.

Laos

East and West capitals alike his views on how Laos can be stabilized under a single neutral government.)

Sources here said the problem of checking up on Soviet supply activities is considered too difficult to be effective. But the pro-Western government of Prince Boun Oum is determined to push for an effective inspection by Canadian, Polish and Indian observers on the international Control Commission.

The royal government is reported to be counting particularly on India's influence to secure adequate inspection in rebel-held northern areas of Laos.

Sixteen new American helicopters being flown to Vientiane could be used for inspection duty if a cease-fire came, the sources said. The Sikorsky helicopters arrived this week at a U. S. Marine base set up temporarily at Udorn, Thailand, 35 miles south of Vientiane.

The capital is quiet. The first Miss Laos was crowned in an evening contest at the city's best hotel Friday night. Several Cabinet ministers watched as a winsome beauty was chosen.

Premier Boun Oum and his right-wing strongman, Gen. Phoumi Nosavan, flew south to investigate reports of serious fighting and intervention by Communist Vietnamese battalions from neighboring North Viet Nam. Reliable military sources say these reports are highly exaggerated.

The government minister said a Cabinet meeting will be held to discuss universal conscription. The 35,000 members of the Lao-tian army are all volunteers.

U.N. FORCES INCREASED
LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP) — The United Nations sent 1,000 Gurkha troops flying to north Katanga today as an emergency move to prevent a new flare-up of civil war in the Congo.

A U.N. spokesman said it has been decided to "significantly strengthen the U.N.'s military position as the danger of large scale clashes is clearly apparent."

March Had More Rain And Warmth

March had higher-than-average temperatures and rainfall, according to the report of Columbiana County Weather Observer Edwin Copeland.

He also reported that snowfall this past winter measured 44 inches, compared to an average of 28.5 inches.

Temperature last month averaged 40 degrees, compared to the 68-year-average of 37 degrees for March, and rainfall last month totaled 3.32 degrees—six tenths of an inch above the 3.26 inch average for March.

Whereas there was more rain last month, snowfall amounted to only two inches, compared to the 3.26 inch average.

The high temperature last month was 72 degrees on March 27 and the low was 10 on the 17th, Copeland said.

It was much colder in March, 1960, which had a norm of 22.5 degrees. Rainfall a year ago was only 1.20 inches.

blossoms, and 11 major sunrise services are scheduled in or near Washington, including one at Arlington National Cemetery.

One of the more colorful observances is scheduled tonight on the hills surrounding Fredericksburg, Tex. There, "Easter fires" will be lighted, as they have been for 114 years.

The custom dates back to the pioneering era when German settlers pacified children by telling them the campfires of hostile Indians really were set by bunnies preparing their Easter eggs.

For those who would believe behind the Iron Curtain, Archbishop Francis Cardinal Spellman expressed a message of hope in a broadcast carried to them by Radio Free Europe.

"He who died in disgrace on Good Friday, arose in glory on Easter Sunday," he said. "The apparent defeat of the Cross was removed and His heavenly Father poured upon Him that full and perfect glory He had put aside to save us."

"Identified with Him, we share His Cross and we share His crown."

who suffers from the boycott. We have suffered a good deal already and are willing to suffer a little more."

The United States caused jubilation among the African nations recently when it split with its Western allies and supported the black nations on two race issues. It backed demands in the Security Council for reforms in Portugal's African colony of Angola and joined the General Assembly's move to censure South Africa's racist policies in Southwest Africa.

The enthusiasm increased when the U. S. delegation served notice on its colonial allies that it would steer an independent course henceforth on issues concerning independence.

At the meeting with Rusk here Kennedy expected to get a more detailed picture of the SEATO deliberations regarding the Laos crisis, and a more complete report on a Rusk conference with India's Prime Minister Nehru on Laos. Rusk stopped in New Delhi on the way back to the United States.

The SEATO nations adopted a resolution calling for an end of hostilities in Laos and saying the member countries would take appropriate action if there is no cease-fire. The resolution did not mention military action as the alternative, but such a step is generally regarded as having been implied as a possibility.

Warren Rackets Figure Released

WARREN, Ohio (AP) — After serving two-and-a-half months of a four-months sentence for assault and battery, Mike Farah, Warren rackets figure, has been granted a release.

Common Pleas Court Judge G. H. Birrell granted Farah's freedom Friday saying Farah was "entitled to consideration for good behavior while he was in jail."

A jury found Farah guilty of committing assault and battery upon Jean Blair, former Trumbull County Republican chairman and member of the board of elections. Originally indicted for assault with intent to kill, Farah was convicted on the lesser charge.

The conviction was affirmed on appeal to the Ohio Supreme Court.

Snow Postpones Easter Egg Hunt

The city's annual Easter Egg Hunt was postponed today until next Saturday morning because of the heavy snow.

Officers of the United Commercial Travelers, sponsors of the annual egg hunt for children, said the event will be held at 11 a.m. April 8.

The park today was covered with a heavy blanket of wet snow.

Slippery Streets Cause 2 Mishaps

Slippery streets caused two city traffic mishaps this morning, one bringing injuries to a 62-year-old Geneva, O., woman.

Treated and dismissed from Salem Central Clinic Hospital was Laura Cutlip, a passenger in a car driven by her husband Walter, 54. She received a possible arm fracture and abrasions of both knees.

Police said Cutlip's car slid into a utility pole on N. Ellsworth Ave., near Second St., at 8:55 a.m. Minor damage was sustained by the auto, police reported.

In another mishap, a car operated by Thomas Senanefes, 37, of Lisbon, slid into a ditch on S. Ellsworth Ave., just north of Olive St., at 10:08 a.m., causing minor damage to the vehicle.

The feverish political activity in the Moscow capital followed by one day the publication of a communique on this week's conference of the Warsaw Pact powers led by the Soviet Union.

The eight-nation Communist alliance in Europe again attacked imperialism and included Laos among those suffering from it. But the communique skipped over the bubbling crisis in the jungle kingdom and called West Germany the "hotbed of war danger."

The declaration was mild and prompted observers here to believe the Soviet Union had taken some steps toward meeting the British proposal for peace in Laos.

But the Soviets were still showing a determination to strike hard bargains.

While the Kremlin discussions were going on about Laos, the Soviet Communist party organ, Pravda was boasting that the "initiative in the international arena belongs to the Socialist (Communist) camp."

Welch Denies Calling Ike Communist

BELMONT, Mass. (AP)—Robert Welch, 61, founder of the controversial John Birch Society says he never called former President Dwight D. Eisenhower a "card-carrying Communist."

His denial came Friday night as criticism mounted around the rightist organization after a disclosure Welch once wrote that former President Dwight D. Eisenhower was a "dedicated, conscious agent of the Communist conspiracy."

In a privately-published book, Welch also criticized Milton Eisenhower, the former president's brother, and described former Presidents Harry S. Truman and Franklin D. Roosevelt and the late Secretary of State John Foster Dulles as "tools of communism."

Welch said he never viewed Eisenhower as a Red agent. "I never had that opinion," he said. "I never thought it then with firmness enough to publish it or to say it in public and I don't today."

Some congressmen have called for investigations of the John Birch Society by the House Committee on Un-American Activities, the Senate Internal Security subcommittee and the Senate Government Operations Committee.

But chairman of all three bodies indicated they had no plans for such an inquiry.

Johnson Leaves On African Mission

WASHINGTON (APP) — Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson departs for Africa today on his first overseas mission for President Kennedy.

He will represent the United States at the independence celebrations of Senegal, a former French colony on Africa's Atlantic coast.

His schedule thereafter is still unsettled. He might extend his trek to Europe, although aides said he probably would not be away for more than a week.

Politicians are watching out for any repercussions at home from Johnson's overseas tour.

Johnson, 53, a Democratic presidential aspirant himself until Kennedy won the nomination, is expected to get more overseas jobs from Kennedy later.

In one of his last official acts before departure for Africa, Johnson called for steps to do away with racial discriminations in apprenticeship training programs throughout the United States. American Negroes have often complained that some unions—particularly those in skilled crafts—effectively prevent them from getting jobs by denying them the right to become apprentices to learn the trade.

Johnson acted in his capacity as chairman of Kennedy's new Committee on Equal Employment Opportunity.

In a letter to Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg, vice chairman of the group, Johnson said "it is apparent that one of the great barriers to equal employment opportunity in this country lives in the lack of equal availability of training for skilled trade and crafts."

Senators Blast A's 13-3 For 6th Win In 7 Starts

Bucs Beat Yanks; Tigers Rip Orioles

By The Associated Press
The Washington Senators have been making their presence felt in the grapefruit league this year, or a franchise that started from scratch and picked players out of a grab bag pool of players, the newcomers have progressed remarkably well in the baseball exhibitions. The "new" Senators' manager is Mickey Vernon, the old-time Washington favorite.

The Senators clubbed the Kansas City A's 13-3 at Pompano Beach for their sixth victory in the last seven citrus starts. This made Washington's won-lost record 11-8, second best among the 10 American League teams this spring.

The "old" Washington franchise has been moved to Minnesota's Twin Cities with the Los Angeles Angels joining the Senators in giving the American League its new look.

Fans in Washington who saw last season's edition of the Nats finish fifth after three straight years in the cellar could have a lot to cheer about if the "new" Senators continue to improve.

Castoffs Dale Long, Danny O'Connell, Willie Tasby and Pete Daley provided the batting punch in Washington's 15-hit outburst against the A's. Each contributed three hits with Long and O'Connell collecting homers.

Rookie Ed Hobaugh, 26, a right-hander drafted from San Diego, pitched seven innings for the Senators, allowing all three A's runs on five hits. Norm Siebern homered for Kansas City. Southpaw Carl Mathias, picked up from Cleveland, finished with two scoreless frames.

In other games Pittsburgh won its second game this spring from New York 4-2, Cincinnati blanked Indianapolis of the American Association 3-0, Cleveland edged Tacoma of the Pacific Coast League 4-3 and in a night game at Miami, Detroit whipped Baltimore 6-3.

The Pirates posted their 15th victory in 21 games in maintaining their World Series supremacy over the Yankees. Harvey Haddix, Pittsburgh's winning pitcher in the seventh game of the series, yielded three hits and an unearned run in six innings to gain the verdict.

Ralph Terry, losing hurler for New York in the final series game, worked four perfect innings before the Pirates tagged him for four runs in the fifth inning. Haddix' two-run double was the decisive hit. Tony Kubek batted in both of the Yanks' runs. Mickey Mantle of New York was sidelined with a pulled stomach muscle.

Gordie Coleman's three-run homer in the eighth inning accounted for all the Reds' runs. Bob Purkey held Indianapolis to nine scattered hits in turning in the first nine-inning tour by a Cincinnati pitcher this spring.

Tito Francona's two-run double in the seventh gave the Indians their win over Tacoma. Barry Latman worked for the first six innings for the Tribe and Steve Hamilton pitched three scoreless frames. Dick Phillips had three hits for Tacoma, including a homer.

Jim Bunning went the distance for the Tigers and limited the Orioles to six hits while striking out nine and allowing only one walk. Detroit bunched four of its nine hits off Baltimore starter Milt Pappas for a four-run eighth inning uprising that snapped a 2-2 tie. Ron Hansen and Jim Gentile homered for Baltimore.

The importance of the grip has been discussed since Harry Vardon's time.

The grip is so important that every instructional series must start with it.

I use the so-called baseball grip, which has increased in popularity in more recent years.

But let us start with the overlapping grip because it is the one most commonly employed.

Take any wood, and place its sole on the ground with the face square to the line of flight. With the back of the left hand facing the direction of flight, place that hand under the grip section of the shaft with about half an inch of the shaft extending beyond the heel.

The left-hand grip is a combination of finger and palm grip. The club will lie across the middle joint of the index finger and extend upward into the palm, barely touching the little finger.

Holding on with the left hand, put the right hand on the club as though shaking hands with it. The little finger of the right hand will overlap index finger of left.

Close the right hand with the thumb firmly on the shaft in such a manner that the V formed by the thumb and index finger of the right hand points to the right pointing over the right shoulder.

McCovey's Booming Bat Big News In San Francisco Camp

By JACK STEVENSON

Associated Press Sports Writer

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Willie

McCovey's booming bat provides the big news in the San Francisco Giants camp this spring, boosting pennant hopes in Alvin Dark's first campaign as a manager.

Walloping Willie hit .354 after joining the Giants in mid-1959 to become National League rookie of the year. Last season he flopped to .238 and was shipped back to the minors for a time.

In spring games this year he's hitting in the .400 neighborhood and covering first base better than ever.

Since 1960's fifth place finish by a team considered a top pennant contender, the Giants hired Dark, captain of their 1954 world champion aggregation. They also acquired Harvey Kuenn from Cleveland in the swap that sent southpaw hurler John Antonelli and outfielder Willie Kirkland into the American League.

Most of the faces are familiar to San Francisco fans. Second baseman Charlie Hiller, batting champion of the Texas League with Harlingen, could oust Don Blasingame from his job. Tom Haller, former University of Illinois quarterback, bids for a catching job and pitchers Bob Bolin and Jim Duffalo have been impressive.

Willie Mays, whose .319 average was third best in the league last year, owns center field. Orlando Cepeda, who hit .297, moves from left field to right.

Dark must decide what to do with Kuenn, former American League batting champion who hit .308 for Cleveland last campaign. Harvey can play third base or the outfield. If he mans third, that means Jimmy Davenport either moves to shortstop or the bench. If Kuenn goes to left field, then Felipe Alou is benched.

Eddie Bressoud returns to shortstop unless Davenport gets the job.

Haller battles veterans Bob Schmidt and Hobie Landrith for the catching assignments.

Pitching this spring has failed to impress although the hurling corps last year had the second best ERA in the league. Biggest surprise has been the veteran ex-Dodger Billy Loes who so far is on the starter list. As a reliever last year, he proved a disappointment with a 3-2 record and 4.89 ERA, but has pitched well this spring.

Both Jack Sanford and Juan Marichal have been plagued with wild streaks. Left-hander Mike McCormick suffered a muscle spasm in his back. Sam Jones is among those on the beam early. Southpaw Billy O'Dell could help as both starter and reliever. Little Stu Miller falls into the same category.

Coleman Clouts 3-Run Homer

Reds' First Baseman Also Shows Faults

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Gordie Coleman, who combines some of the good points and bad features of a promising Cincinnati Reds team, managed to show both assets and liabilities Friday.

Of course, the sturdy first baseman's three-run homer in the eighth inning gave Cincinnati a 3-0 victory over their Indianapolis farm colleagues.

But he managed to miff two earlier opportunities on the base paths.

He was picked off second base after leading off the second inning with a double. Two innings later, he was trapped off first.

The fluffs can be put down to experience. If spring exhibition games are any barometer, Coleman and his colleagues will make a lot of misuses this summer.

But Coleman has shown he can learn quickly. He was confused and discouraged when packed off to Seattle for more seasoning last year.

But with the patient personal help of Seattle manager Dick Sisker, now the Reds' batting coach, Gordie was ready to return to the Reds July 24. He hit .271 in 68 games after being recalled.

The Reds also will need his fielding talents at first base. Although he weighed in at a trim 209 pounds this spring, he is deceptively fast, according to manager Fred Hutchinson.

Gordie said, "I don't think that extra weight really had too much to do with the rut I got into (last season) but I'm not taking any chances this time."

Bob Purkey limited the Indians to nine hits, all singles Friday and was the first Redleg pitcher to go nine exhibition innings this spring.

The Reds, however, were charged with three errors.

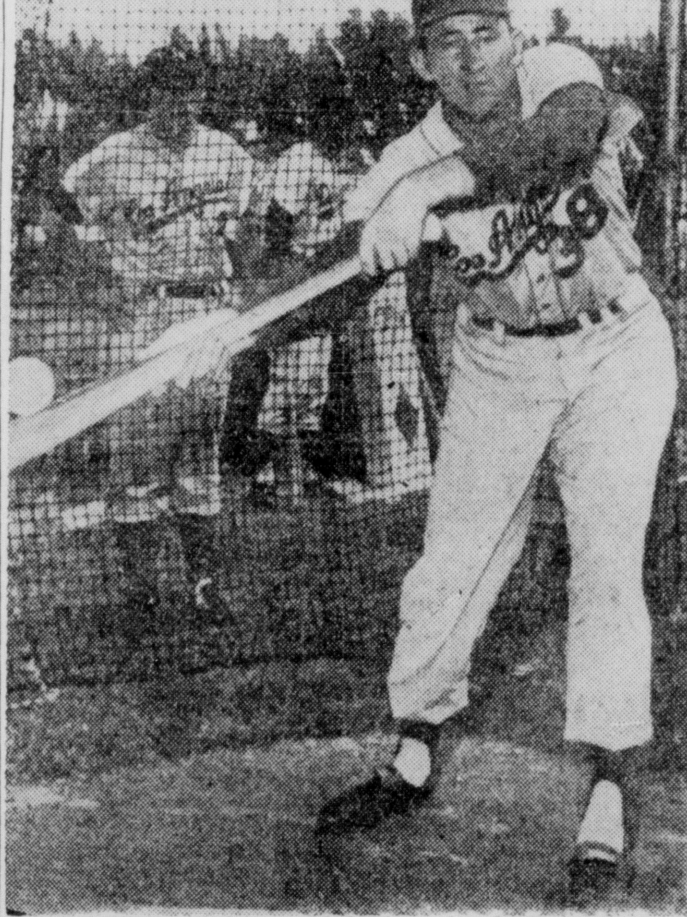

Rookie Ken Hunt was to get another test today against Los Angeles.

Toledo Eliminated From Hockey Playoffs

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—Muskegon beat Toledo 7-3 Friday night to take the lead in the International Hockey League's Eastern Division round-robin playoff. Warren Back paced the winners with two goals.

The defeat eliminated the Mercurys from the playoffs.

Muskegon will carry a two-point lead into tonight's game against the Fort Wayne Komets and can clinch the division title with a victory or a tie.

BUNT HUNT—Pitchers can help themselves by bunting a baserunner along. This department isn't being overlooked at the Los Angeles Dodgers' camp at Vero Beach, Fla. Coach Leo Durocher watches Roger Craig lay one down.

6 Marks Broken In AAU Swim Meet

By LOU BLACK

Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW HAVEN, CONN. (AP)—

Too bad the Olympic games are not being held again this year, say America's top swimming experts here for the National A.A.U. Indoor Swimming Championships.

They feel so good mainly because of the awesome display of power displayed so far in the three-day meet which ends tonight.

There have been seven races and seven American records, tops in a 25-yard (short course) pool. World records can be made only in a long course tank. The way things have been going, hardly anybody will be surprised if the current standards in the eight remaining tests survive after tonight's bombardment.

Six American marks were broken Friday night in five races, two of them in the 440-yard freestyle relay won by the New Haven Swim Club's "A" team and its leadoff star, Mike Austin of Rochester, N. Y.

The quartet of Austin, Jim Loeffbrouwer, Dave Tyler and Gary Ball finished in 3:15.9, one-tenth of a second under Southern California's record. Austin, a Yale freshman, paced the exciting triumph with 0:47.7 split for the first 100-yards. The listed record was made here last year by Jeff Farrell, 0:48.2.

The other record-smashers were defending champions Charley Bittick of Southern California, 220-yard backstroke, 2:09.7, for his second title in as many days, and Mike Troy of Indiana, 220-yard butterfly, 2:10.9; Steve Clark, Los Altos, Calif., high school senior, 220-yard freestyle, 2:00; and Chet Jastremski of Indiana, 220-yard breaststroke, 2:26.7.

On opening night, Bittick bettered the American 400-yard individual medley mark, and Murray Rose, Southern California swimmer from Australia, lowered the meet record in the 1500-meter grind.

The all-day affair will get underway at 9 a.m. with registration.

The Chicago White Sox list nine 10-year men on their roster, more than any other American League club.

Right-Hander Gains Control

Latman Gives Up 7 Hits In 6 Innings as Tribe Nips Tacoma

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Barry Latman's latest pitching performance—exactly something to get excited about—is what the Cleveland Indians had counted on from the 24-year-old right-hander.

Blasted in his three previous outings, Latman hurled six innings Friday as the Indians edged Tacoma of the Pacific Coast League 4-3 on Tito Francona's two-run double in the seventh inning.

Latman yielded seven hits and three runs, but the most encouraging item is that he didn't walk a man. Of course, the minor league opposition is something to be considered.

Rookie Steve Hamilton turned in another dandy job within three hitless mopup innings. The 6-foot-6 southpaw who had a 14-9 record at Mobile in 1960, seems a good bet to make the Tribe pitching corps.

A little suggestion from Cleveland pitching coach Mel Harder could have been responsible for Latman's good control. While Lat-man was throwing on the sidelines Harder noticed the pitcher swung his head far to the left while delivering the ball.

Harder told him to keep his head and his eye on the plate and it paid off for Latman. The fast-baller would have had no trouble at all except for the hitting of Tacoma's young shortstop, Dick Phillips, who cracked a solo home run, a double and a single.

Cleveland's first two runs, scored in the fifth frame, came with the aid of a pair of Tacoma errors. Vic Power opened with a single. Then two errors permitted one run to score and the other crossed on Johnny Temple's sacrifice fly.

Tacoma went ahead 3-2 in the sixth on Phillips' double, a triple by Dusty Rhodes which Jim Pier-sall lost in the sun and a throwing error by catcher Valmy Thomas. Rhodes is the same one who killed the Indians in the 1954 World Series.

Then the Indians staged their two-run burst in the seventh to tie the decision. The rally started when Thomas walked. Bubba Phillips followed with a single. The next two batters were retired, but Francona came through with his big double into deep left center.

Francona leads the club in hits with 21, in triples with two and in home runs with 4. He's hitting .375.

Jim Perry and Bob Allen were scheduled to share the pitching chore against the San Francisco Giants here today.

Blancas Holds 4-Stroke Edge In Intercollegiate Golf Event

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Homero Blancas made his bid today for a full share of the individual medal championship of the seventh annual All-America Intercollegiate Golf Tournament.

The Houston junior began the final round of the 72-hole tournament with a 71-72-72-215 and a four-stroke edge over Dicky Duple of Texas A&M.

Blancas missed a chance to capture the championship outright on the final green a year ago and shared the 1960 title with Don Essig of Louisiana State and Larry Beck of Houston.

The par 72 by Blancas Friday was the only par-or-better score for the third round on the 6,785-yard Pine Forest Country Club course.

Six strokes off the pace at 221 were Sam Carmichael of LSU and Downing Gray of Florida State. Gray led the first round with a 68 but jumped to a 75-78 in the second and third rounds.

Duple's 72-73-74-219 shot Texas A&M into the team medal lead at 899 as seven of the 20 teams were eliminated.

Houston followed at 906, one stroke ahead of North Texas State. LSU had 914, Florida 918, Florida State 922, Oklahoma State 926, Texas Tech 940, Oklahoma 942, Alabama 945, Baylor 950, New Mexico 953, Texas Wesleyan and Western Illinois 958, Texas 959, Stephen F. Austin (Texas) 975, Southern Methodist and Hardin-Simmons 979, Rice 997, and Yale 1,054.

Teams eliminated were Baylor, Western Illinois, Stephen F. Austin, SMU, Hardin-Simmons, Rice and Yale.
